Redis Labs provides support services to its Cloud Services (the “Support Services”) as described in this Support Policy. The Support Services do not include professional services or other services not specified herein, such as training or consulting.

1. Eligible Cloud Services. Redis Labs provides Support Services only to paying subscriptions of the Cloud Services (the “Eligible Services”).

2. Technical Contacts. Support may be initiated and managed only by named individuals who are responsible for the administration of the Supported Services within Customer's organization (“Technical Contacts”).

3. Support Tickets. Technical Contacts may initiate a support ticket concerning Eligible Services (“Ticket”) 24 hours a day, 7 days a week through: (a) Redis Labs' web ticketing system at <https://redislabs.com/company/contact/support/>; (b) an email to support@redislabs.com, or (c) our support hotline at a phone number provided at the Support Services UI. Support is provided in the English language only.

4. Ticket Resolution. Redis Labs will make commercially reasonable efforts to resolve any Ticket detailing a material and verifiable failure of the Cloud Services to conform to its Documentation. Such efforts may include helping with diagnosis, suggesting workarounds, providing patches, or modifying the Cloud Services. Support Services will not be provided for: (a) use of the Cloud Services in a manner inconsistent with the applicable Documentation; (b) modifications to the Cloud Services not provided by Redis Labs, or (c) use of the Cloud Services with products or software not provided or approved in writing by Redis Labs.

5. Ticket Priority Level. Redis Labs will reasonably assess and assign each Ticket a priority level (“Priority Level”) as defined below. Redis Labs will confirm the Priority Level with the Technical Contact and will resolve any disagreement regarding the Priority Level as soon as is reasonably practical.

Priority Levels

“Urgent” is described as a catastrophic problem in Customer’s production database that results in the inability to access Customer Data or in loss of Customer Data. This Priority Level is not applicable for non-production databases.

“High” is described as a high-impact problem in Customer's production database that would disrupt essential operations, without impact on data availability and with no data loss. This Priority Level is not applicable for non-production databases.

“Normal” is described as a lower impact problem in Customer’s production or non-production database that involves a partial or limited loss of non-critical functionality, or some other problem not involving loss in functionality and not preventing your continued essential operations. Normal also includes any problem relating to non-production databases, such as test and development databases.

“Low” is described as a general usage question. It also includes enhancement or modification requests. There is no impact on the quality, performance, or functionality of the database in a production or non-production system.

6. Response Time. The following response times apply to Eligible Services:

Cloud Service	Cloud Essentials	Cloud Pro
Support Service Level	Basic	Standard
Ticket Priority Level	Response Time
Urgent	3 hours	2 hours
High	8 hours	6 hours
Normal/ Low	24 hours*	24 hours*

* Response times for Normal/Low priority tickets apply Monday to Friday, 9am-6pm, at your primary time zone

7. Customer's Responsibilities. Customer shall provide Redis Labs with timely access to Customer's Technical Contacts as reasonably required for allowing Redis Labs to resolve Tickets.

8. How to Escalate a Support Ticket. If Customer is not satisfied with the response or resolution provided by Redis Labs' Support Services, Customer may use one of the following escalation paths to have its concerns addressed:

a) For support issues where the business impact has changed or was not correctly stated initially, Customer should request to have the Priority Level of the Ticket raised.

b) If Customer is dissatisfied with the Redis Labs response or resolution, Customer should follow the procedure below:

i. Verify that the Ticket is up-to-date and all requested information and files have been provided. Then ask for escalation through one of the channels listed in Section 3 above, indicating: (a) the Ticket number; (b) Technical Contact's details, and (c) reason for escalation.

ii. A support engineer or an operator will take your information and generate an escalation request ("Escalation Request").

iii. Once an Escalation Request has been received, Redis Labs' Support Manager will contact Customer's Technical Contact to acknowledge the escalation process and determine the mode of communication and frequency of updates. The Support Manager will work to ensure that the appropriate resources are available to identify a solution or a workaround.
